

How To Become Listed as a Nationally Certified Radon Measurement Professional in Connecticut

Step 1 - Attend a two-day Radon Measurement Proficiency Course

Attend a Radon Measurement Proficiency course approved by one of the national radon certification agencies:

- The National Radon Proficiency Program \(NRPP\); or
- The National Radon Safety Board \(NRSB\)

Step 2 - Pass an examination

Complete and pass the national certification examination from NRPP or NRSB, which is offered at the end of the measurement course. There is an additional fee required to take this exam.

Step 3 - Submit an application to NRPP or NRSB to become nationally certified

Submit a membership application to become a nationally certified radon measurement professional by NRPP or NRSB. Check their websites (see links above) for more information.

Step 4 - Fill out the CT Department of Public Health (DPH) Radon Program application

Complete the Analytical/Residential Measurement Service Provider State Listing Application to become listed on the CT DPH website. Fax completed application to the Radon Program. Your national certification is verified online. Your name will be added to the list on the CT DPH Radon Program website.

How To Become Qualified To Conduct Radon Measurement in CT Public Schools

The completion of Steps 1 through 4 is a prerequisite for attendance in the course mentioned below.

*An individual must be nationally certified in Radon Measurement to enroll in the CT DPH Radon Testing in CT Schools Course.

Once you become nationally certified and submit the CT DPH Radon Program Measurement Application, you will be notified thru email when the next course is scheduled.

Step 5 – Attend the CT DPH “Radon Testing in CT Schools” course

Attend the half-day Radon Measurement in Connecticut Schools course at DPH in Hartford. There is no fee for this course.

**Individuals MUST attend this ½ day School’s Training Course to be eligible conduct radon measurement in CT public schools.